“The first revolution is when you change your mind about how you look at things, and see there might be another way to look at it that you have not been shown. What you see later on is the results of that, but that revolution, that change that takes place will not be televised.”

Message from the Conference Chair

Welcome to IFPE’s 32nd Annual Interdisciplinary Conference: Disruptions and Transformations. After a two-year hiatus, we are thrilled to be able to meet the old-fashioned way - at an in-person conference in Evanston.

This year’s conference theme, captured so poignantly in the painting on our brochure by April Gornik, was inspired by the powerful disruptions that have been occurring around the world these past few years. But COVID, Black Lives Matter, changing political landscapes, economic crises and international hostilities, have brought with them the seeds of transformation – both disturbing and hopeful.

For over three decades, IFPE conferences have always emphasized the personal dimension of our themes. Continuing with this tradition, our 2022 conference will feature presentations that address important “big picture” issues, but which speak from - and to - the heart.

Receiving the Hans W. Loewald Memorial Award will be Carol Gilligan, whose classic 1982 book about the development of women’s morality and sense of self, In a Different Voice, was truly disruptive and transformational. Like many brilliant, transformational ideas, it had the paradoxical quality of making an entirely novel idea seem, in retrospect, obvious.

Honored as Distinguished Educators this year will be Claude Barbre, Tim Dean and Phillis Isabella Sheppard, all three of whom have made significant contributions to how we think about race, culture and diversity, not only helping to open the minds of students of psychoanalysis but affecting the wider culture as well.

And of course, we want to acknowledge the contributions of our extraordinarily competent administrator, Lois Ehrlich, who successfully managed the many disruptions that we faced along the way.

And so, on behalf of the Conference Committee (Co-Presidents Larry Green and Rachel Newcombe, Past-President Christina Griffin, Susan Burland and myself), as well as the other members of the Board of Directors (Veronica Abney, Samoan Barish, Elisabeth Crim, Joel Miller, Bryan K. Nichols, Erin Pierson, Art Pomponio, Katherine Straznickas and Jay Swanson), Treasurer Manuel Marquez and Parliamentarian Douglas F. Maxwell, we welcome you to Evanston and the long-awaited in-person 2022 IFPE Conference.

Continuing Education Credits

IFPE exists outside the organizational traditions of psychoanalysis, with neither authority to “authenticate” training nor favors to bestow; beholden to no parent institution, specific theoretical persuasion or particular professional discipline; and offering the opportunity to meet colleagues and others on safe ground as we consider the human condition (including our own) from all perspectives. It is therefore an issue of both congruence and integrity that we do not offer Continuing Education Credits.

Certificates of Attendance

Certificates will be emailed, upon request, to attendees after the conference.
